Procedure for Equalization or Redressing Imbalance

Each year in March, the Stated Clerk shall determine and report to Presbytery the number of active, resident minister members of the Presbytery at the end of the previous calendar year in accord with Book of Order G-3.0301. Beginning with the total on the roll of ministers in the presbytery, the following criteria will be used to determine how many ministers are considered active:

- Normally the unexcused absence of a minister from all Presbytery meeting during the previous year shall be adequate rationale to declare that teaching elder not to be active.
- Some honorably retired ministers may have informed the Stated Clerk that they do not plan to attend Presbytery meetings.
- Other ministers live outside the bounds of the Presbytery and are unable to attend Presbytery meetings.

Likewise, the Stated Clerk shall determine and report the total number of ruling elders with voting privileges using the membership statistics reported to the Office of the General Assembly by each church for the previous year and in accordance with Section I – Membership – of the Standing Rules.

Using the above data, the Stated Clerk shall determine any imbalance in representation at Presbytery meetings and report this imbalance to the Presbytery at its second meeting of the year (normally in April). This may result in a need to invite one or more churches to send one additional ruling elder commissioner to Presbytery meetings using the guidelines provided in G-3.0301 beginning with the next stated meeting and continuing for about 1 year.

The following is a listing of the member churches in Albany Presbytery in random order. This listing was created in 1986 and has been used since then with adjustments as needed to reflect dissolutions, dismissals, or mergers to establish a rotation basis for inviting churches to send an additional ruling elder commissioner to help redress the imbalance of ruling elders and teaching elders at Presbytery meetings.

Using the above list, the Stated Clerk shall recommend that the next church(es) in the random order be invited to send one more ruling elder commissioner to all Presbytery meetings for about 1 year. However, prior to making the recommendation to Presbytery, the Stated Clerk shall consult with the Moderator and/or Clerk of Session of each church being considered to assess the likelihood that the church will be able to send an additional ruling elder commissioner. Some churches have a well-documented history of failing to send even one ruling elder commissioner to Presbytery meetings on a regular basis. If it seems appropriate, the Stated Clerk may ask a moderator or clerk of session to formally reject in writing an invitation to send an additional ruling elder commissioner. Based on the results of these consultations, the Stated Clerk may propose to Presbytery that one or more churches be skipped in the random rotation to be invited to send an additional ruling elder commissioner to help redress imbalance and provide a rationale for so doing using the guidelines in G-3.0301.

Basic Witness Support Policy

1. The Presbytery Budget and Finance Committee, annually, at a fall meeting of Presbytery, shall suggest the minimum amount of money necessary to meet the Basic Witness Support of General Assembly, Synod, and Presbytery for the ensuing year, and the amount, after having been approved by the Presbytery in the fall, shall be apportioned to the churches each year on a per capita basis as a minimum requirement to the Basic Witness Support Policy.
2. Any church indicating non-payment or not making quarterly Basic Witness Support payments is to be directed by the Stated Clerk to make use of the church counseling processes provided by the Committee on Ministers and Congregations.
3. Upon recommendation of the Committee on Ministers and Congregations and a two-thirds vote of the Presbytery, a given church's portion of the Basic Witness Support may be waived for a given year. If the church does not make use of the Committee on Ministers and Congregations counseling process, or if the church does not request a waiver, or if the Committee on Ministers and Congregations does not support a recommendation for a waiver by a two-thirds vote of Presbytery and a waiver is not granted and the session does not authorize payment within the next quarter, then Presbytery shall consider electing an administrative commission to work with the session with regard to the problem involved in the nonpayment.
